

After quoting a few OT passages pointing to Israel's rebellion against God at the end of the previous chapter, Paul asks what might be a natural question.